

ABSTRACT

The present invention features a composition for application to the hair including: (i) a first hair conditioning agent, wherein such first hair conditioning agent penetrates into the core of the hair; (ii) a second hair conditioning agent, wherein such second hair conditioning agent penetrates into the cortex region of the hair but does not substantially penetrate into the core of the hair; and (iii) a third hair conditioning agent, wherein such third hair conditioning agent remain on the hair surface and does not substantially penetrate into the cortex of the hair.